ANNUAL SUMMER SEMINAR: THE PSYCHOLOGY OF DISPUTES

11 June 2010

Most disputes have their own "hidden agenda" and often if that "hidden agenda" is uncovered the true reason for the stated dispute can be established and the effective means of resolving the dispute can be found. Many practitioners now realise that understanding the "Psychology of Disputes" is a key factor in stopping areas of disagreement from escalating into formal disputes and also in finding effective ways to resolve disputes that already exist.

This emerging subject area will be considered by several eminent speakers including Peter Birch, Jane Gunn, David Miles and Peter Stuart.

Location:
The Howard Building, Downing College, Cambridge

Time:
9:30am for 10:00am start – 5:00pm finish

Cost:
£90.00 inc VAT including refreshments and buffet lunch.

Members from other professional bodies are welcome (subject to availability of spaces)

NOT TO BE MISSED:
The Branch Annual Dinner this year is to be held at St Catherine's College, Cambridge on Saturday 10th July 2010
