WEBINAR DISCLAIMER

ICES offers webinars to its members and contacts who choose to participate contemporaneously or retrospectively via ICES' online database.

ICES is not responsible for individual technical failures resulting in a Participant's inability to attend a webinar. ICES suggests that Participants test their system to ensure their computer meets the GoToWebinar technological requirements.

The following disclaimer applies to this webinar and any documents, information or opinions obtained from or ancillary to it (the Webinar). You are advised to read this disclaimer carefully before accessing, participating in, reading any document or information made available in this context, or making any other use of the Webinar.

To the extent to which such limitation is lawful, where a specific payment is made by the Participant to view a Webinar (or a series of Webinars), ICES' entire liability, including without limitation liability for negligence, arising from that Webinar (or as the case may be that series of Webinars) shall be capped at the amount of the specific payment made.

ICES makes no representations or warranties about the accuracy or suitability of any information provided in the Webinar and related materials (such as hand-outs, presentation documents and recordings).

The information contained in the Webinar and related materials are not intended to constitute advice of any kind, the rendering of consulting, or other professional services of any kind. Registering for a Webinar only constitutes an agreement to attend the Webinar, and not a contract for consultancy or advice. Registration does not establish any contractual relationship with ICES or give rise to any duty of care in respect of the Webinar's contents or omissions.

The opinions expressed in the Webinar are those of the author(s) only, and may not necessarily represent the views of ICES.

By agreeing to this service, you acknowledge that the information and materials contained in the Webinar may contain inaccuracies or errors. The content of the information provided in the Webinar is for your general information and use only and is subject to change at any time and without prior notice.

The Webinar may include links to other resources or websites. These links are provided for your convenience only, and do not signify that ICES endorses, approves, or makes any representation or claim regarding the accuracy, copyright compliance, legality, or any other aspects of, the resource(s) or website(s).

You are advised not to send any confidential or sensitive information to ICES in the context of a Webinar.

Nothing contained in this disclaimer seeks to limit or exclude liabilities arising ICES' fraud, personal injury arising from ICES' negligence or any other liability which it is not lawful to so exclude or limit.

DATA PROTECTION Rules around the processing of personal data in the context of the Webinar:

By registering and logging on to the Webinar, the Participant agrees that:

- Personally identifiable information of Participants may be heard, seen, read, collected, or used by ICES and the other Webinar Participants;

- any communication or information transmitted during the Webinar, such as voice, instant messages, or presentations are visible to the other Participants and are available to and may be recorded and further used by ICES;
- ICES may further use the information acquired via Webinar administration such as invitation lists, attendee logs and the Webinar subject matter for information purposes, e.g. to analyse the popularity of the Webinar; and
- ICES Webinar participants shall take appropriate care when directly disclosing their personally identifiable information or personally sensitive data on the occasion of the Webinar since this information may be collected and used by other Participants.

By participating in the Webinar the Participant agrees that he or she has read, understands and agrees with the above terms.
